Coaching and Responsibilities

As a coach you have assumed a position which holds many responsibilities and obligations to the student, yourself, the school, and the community. You are a representative of the school and it is important that you conduct yourself so as to maintain the principles, integrity, and dignity of the school, the community, and the profession.,

It is important that each coach understand what is expected of him or her at each level of competition.

Junior High – The junior high programs are developmental in nature. The junior high coaches must stress fundamentals, promote interest, place more emphasis on participation and improvement than winning. Participation is mandatory for all players to get in all games whenever possible.

Junior Varsity – The junior varsity programs are also skills oriented but should place more emphasis on being competitive than junior high. Participation is likely in all games, but may not always occur.

Varsity – The varsity teams should be the very skillful, highly competitive culmination of several years of sound preparation. Participation is solely at the coach’s discretion. The mentality is to play the best player to try to win every game.

In addition to the duties and expectations for each coach at their respective level during the sport’s season, the goal of all Altmar-Parish-Williamstown Central School District inter-scholastic athletic programs is to develop a consistent transition from one level to another. Having said that....it should be understood that the Varsity (Head) coaches have a responsibility and commitment to assuring continuity along the athletic skill development continuum. It should also be understood that a commitment from all levels of the coaching staff must provide input into the program during the seasons, as well as a program commitment during the offseason. This could include (but not be limited to: Summer Camps, Week-end Clinics, Out-of-Season Leagues, Summer Leagues, Individual Tournaments and Team Tournaments.
