Dear APW Families,

Yesterday, additional guidance came from Governor Cuomo's office that extended school closures through April 29th. It was also announced that all June Regents exams have been cancelled. This decision prompted a flurry of questions on everything from course credit to graduation requirements. Additional guidance is scheduled for release today and I will share that once it is made public as I know we share the same concerns. Some additional information can be found using the following link:

We will continue with our food distribution schedule as is until further notice. Please take a moment and fill out the technology survey on our district website as we continue to evolve our plans for continuity of education. If you do not have access please call our JSHS or Elementary school on Wednesday between 9:00-12:00 and our clerical staff can assist in completing the survey. This information is vital in our decision making so please complete this when you have a chance.

Special thanks to everyone in the APW community for the resilience you have shown throughout this process. Our new return date in late April will likely be changed again, and as things continue to evolve we will keep you informed.

Please stay safe and healthy,

Sincerely,

Eric Knuth
